KEEP your eyes
ON THE PRIZE

I press toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus.
Philippians 3:14

Women's Ministries at First Baptist Narragansett

Welcome to Spring in Rhode Island, where you never know if it's going to be a puffy coat day, umbrella day, or flip-flop day. As much as we might complain, we also love it just that way. Perspective brings it all into focus when the northern plains are still getting feet of snow.

How is your 2024 going thus far? I trust you embraced our theme to "Keep your Eyes on the Prize" as you continue your journey with the Lord. (see verse from Philippians on the left). We'd love to hear your stories or examples of that. Please share by replying and we can anonymously add it to future newsletters as encouragement to others. Our stories build each other up! Please also email me if you need prayer for any hurdles as you press on. In this Summer Olympic year, I cannot help but make the analogy to watching the runners navigate their hurdle races.

Our Women's Bible study has been examining the Parables of Jesus with all the challenges that Jesus issued, including many 'yikes' (or aha) moments. We meet most every Monday evening at 7 (at the church) and we're only about halfway through the study. You can jump in at any time....we'd LOVE to see you there as we learn together.

This season is one of the ultimate gratitude for God's redemptive gift of His Son as he was sacrificed for each of us. The emotions of this week, in how Jesus suffered and died for us, followed by the joy of His resurrection, are never to be taken lightly. As spring and Easter are also known for renewal, it's our prayer that you will find yourselves renewed in God's great plan for us; or perhaps seeking Him for the first time.

Reach out if we can help anywhere along the spectrum.

Enjoy many blessings this Easter week as you celebrate with family/friends. Maybe I'll see you at our Sunrise Service on Easter morning at the Towers...615am...be there (and stay for breakfast).
